JASMINE FLOWER

(Mo Li Hua)

"Jasmine Flower is a Chinese folk tune, but the song is also known because Puccini used it in his opera Madama Butterfly. The two versions are slightly different, but in this arrangement elements of both are included. You'll notice I create my own variations in the second half. You should feel free to develop your own version of it, too."

“ As a child I realized that there were no recordings of my so-called ‘student pieces’. As I grew as a pianist I promised myself that one day I would change this.”
